1. For third party platforms, CLIENT may log a problem with MIA GEN. MIA GEN will act as an intermediary to log the problem with the relevant third party and to escalate it. Alternatively, CLIENT may log a problem directly with the third party and advise MIA GEN accordingly. MIA GEN will categorise these requests as third party support requests.
 2. CLIENT will log requests for MIA GEN model support, technical application support, change requests and training requests directly with MIA GEN. Service levels set out above do not apply to change requests and training requests, delivery times for these will be agreed on an item by item basis. Miagen will categorise each support request as either Bug, Change Request or Training Request.
 3. When logging a support request CLIENT contact will provide a summary of the problem with figures and screenshots where relevant.
 4. An urgency rating of Critical, High, Medium or Low will be agreed and assigned to the request.
 5. CLIENT may request Exceptional User Support, with reasonable advance notice, to cover support during critical processing times. Service Level response times for agreed Exceptional User Support will be 4 hours.
 6. CLIENT will provide a single point of contact for all support matters.
 7. In all requests MIA GEN will chose the solution that best enables CLIENT to perform, this may be a temporary work-around pending a more substantial solution.
